2 Plead Guilty, Ask Probation

Admit Clothing Thefts At Columbiana Stores

LISBON — Steve Mudry, 39, and Samuel Dumas, 56, both of Youngstown, changed their pleas of not guilty to guilty before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Monday afternoon and asked for probation on both counts of thefts of clothing at the Holloway Clothing Store and Fitzpatrick's Clothing Store, Columbiana.

At arraignment Day, Jan. 11, Mudry pleaded not guilty to the theft at the Fitzpatrick Store and Dumas pleaded not guilty to the theft at the Holloway and Son Store.

George Bradovich, also of Youngstown, pleaded not guilty to both counts and will have his trial later.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw announced his tentative schedule for the trials which will begin Monday at 9:30 a.m.

The first case to be heard is that involving eight counts of forgery against Robert Monroe, 31, of Midland, Pa.

Other cases to be heard in the following order are: Clarence Edwin Hayman, 25, and Harold F. Vannetter, both of East Liverpool, charged with burglary; Michael W. Spack of Salem RD. 4, charged with drunk driving; Clifford McFee, 28, of Youngstown, indicted for auto theft; William Taucher of East Palestine, indicted for battery; two indictments of larceny against Bradovich; and the second-degree manslaughter charge against James Anthony Chiera, 45, of Leetonia.

The first degree murder case against Raymond Porter, 21, of East Liverpool will be held later unless the report from Lima State Hospital shows he is insane. Porter is at the hospital now for observation.

Porter is charged with the pistol slaying of East Liverpool Special Patrolman Joseph Mumford, 28, and the wounding of Mrs. Ina Danner of East Liverpool.

Perry Twp. To Seek Bids On Firetruck

Bids for a new firetruck in Perry Township will be advertised within a month, it was decided at last night's meeting of township trustees.

Plans for advertising for bids on the truck will be advanced at a special meeting Wednesday at 5 p.m.

The vehicle, which will cost an estimated $16,000, will have a 1,000-gallon tank to carry water to fires in rural areas of the township where the water is unavailable.

The board of trustees was authorized to advertise for bids for a new truck as the result of the passage of a 2.20 mill levy in the township last November.

Present at Monday's meeting were Joseph Reese, Dale Paxson and Anthony Sheen, trustees; and Richard Hutcheson, clerk.

Teamsters Defy AFL-CIO Policy

Council Bans Use Of 5th Amendment

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The giant teamsters union stood defiant today of a new AFL-CIO policy against union leaders invoking the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying in labor racket probes.

The AFL-CIO policy, written by Federation President George Meany and endorsed by the AFL-CIO Executive Council, orders affiliated unions to oust any union official taking the Fifth Amendment "for his personal protection" in investigations.

Beck Blasts Policy
"The policy is 100 per cent wrong," said Teamsters Union President Dave Beck. "It will come back to haunt the labor movement."

Beck issued a statement saying the teamsters will continue letting their officials "invoke the privileges of the Bill of Rights, without, by such act alone, subjecting themselves to trial or disciplinary action by the union."

"The action taken by the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO does not in any way alter our position," Beck said.

This appeared to toss the matter back to Meany and the AFL-CIO council.

But council members said regardless of Beck's position the council would make no move until some teamsters' union official invokes the Fifth Amendment without his union acting to remove him — as required by the new policy adopted Monday.

Face Expulsion
Meany made it clear to newsmen that any breach of the new policy would subject the non-complying union to possible expulsion from the AFL-CIO.

The teamsters are the biggest AFL-CIO affiliate, claiming 1 1/2 million of the total 15 million AFL-CIO members.

Refusal of some AFL-CIO union officials to give testimony by invoking the Fifth Amendment at recent preliminary Senate hearings into alleged labor racketeering is what prompted the new AFL-CIO stand.

Will Seek 125 Pints Of Blood At Lisbon

LISBON — One hundred and twenty-five Lisbon and vicinity residents will be asked to give a pint of their blood when the Red Cross bloodmobile is stationed at the American Legion Home from noon to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 5.

The recruiting or gazation needs 180 signers to make sure it attains its goal of 125 pints since some prospective donors fail to appear and some are rejected for health reasons.

Lisbon residents formerly had to go to Salem to donate blood, but after Lisbon donors gave 138 pints last August, the Red Cross scheduled a visit of the bloodmobile here every six months.

All residents of the Lisbon area are eligible to receive blood free under the program in either of the Salem hospitals.

Lisbon area residents also may receive blood anywhere in the United States or its possessions under this program provided the hospital involved will accept Red Cross blood for replacement. The local Red Cross will make arrangements upon notification.

Anyone wishing to give blood and who has not been contacted, may make an appointment by calling Mrs. William Kessler, Lisbon, HA 4-5149.

Ohio Won't Get Income Tax, Gov. O'Neill Says

Board of Trustees Approves Change At Meeting Monday Night

To Make City Hospital Nursing School A School Of Practical Nursing Sept. 1

The Hannah E. Mullins professional School of Nursing at Salem City Hospital will become a practical school of nursing Sept. 1, the board of trustees of the hospital decided at a meeting Monday night. The approval was unanimous.

Atty. South Metzger, hospital board president, said the official change will be made at the end of the present school year for nursing students now enrolled.

"This is definitely a progressive measure in keeping with the times and trends in nursing education and is another step in City Hospital's continuously planned program of moving forward with changing community needs and demands," Atty. Metzger said.

Stems From Licensing Program
The idea of establishing a practical nursing school was stimulated by the adoption of a licensure law in Ohio in 1955 requiring the registration of practical nurses as well as professional nurses.

Requirements for operating the practical school are set forth by the Ohio State Nursing Board, the National League for Nursing and the National Association of Practical Nurses. Present requirements are one year's training — 4 months pre-clinical and 8 months clinical, with a total of 600 class hours.

The faculty members are required to have an R.N. and preferably a B.S. degree in Nursing Education. One faculty member is to be a nutritionist with a B.S. Degree in Home Economics.

Metzger emphasized that the Salem school will be operated beyond the requirements of these agencies and that this school will set top standards for excellent development and training of carefully-selected candidates in this field of medical care.

City Hospital officials have tentative plans to request one of the neighboring universities to establish a collegiate program for professional nurses on a regional basis where surrounding hospitals would be used for clinical experience.

"This program, resulting in bachelor's degree, would more adequately meet the educational requirements of professional nurses and would provide a continuous supply of R.N.'s to this locale or region. At present there are 62 Schools of Nursing in Ohio, five of which are in the Cleveland area."

Governor Paints Rosy Picture Of State's Future

'Crash' Program To Build 4-Lane Roads, Freeway, Called For

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill has handed the Legislature a partial blueprint of Ohio's immediate future. It does not, he declared flatly, include a state income tax.

Both houses of the Republican-controlled General Assembly greeted the new GOP governor warmly and listened attentively Monday night as he sketched a rosy picture in his "State-of-the-State" message. He observed it is not an idle daydream that Ohio may become "the leading state in the nation."

O'Neill dropped his "no-state-income-tax" remark unexpectedly into his prepared address. But he it is known, both through his talk to legislators and an earlier press conference, that the two-year budget he will submit in mid-February will be balanced with present taxes.

Legislative reaction to the governor's address was mixed—along party lines.

Major sections of the 40-year-old governor's program spelled out Monday night called for:

A "crash" program under a special taskforce unit to build four-lane highways, including a north-south freeway, to link cities on the interstate system.

Speedy building of mental hospitals and intensive training of personnel to care for inmates plus increased help for retarded children.

Creation of a committee to consider a program for care of the aged.

Removal of the $65-a-month aid for aged award maximum in favor of a program which would finance all their needs.

Creation of a committee on higher education within a month "to give definite leadership to our educational processes beyond the high school level."

Legislative study of salary and pension increases for past and present state employees within budget limits.

Intensive efforts to conserve and augment water resources.

Driver training in schools to help cut the highway toll and removal of accident-prone motorists and machines from the road.

A Civil Rights commission similar to the one in the federal government.

Arcade In Warren Destroyed By Fire

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—All four of this city's fire companies worked more than two hours early today fighting a fire which destroyed the Market House arcade and threatened to spread to two nearby apartment buildings.

Firemen described the blaze, cause of which was unknown, as the biggest here in five years. There was no official estimate of damage, but some unofficial estimates ran as high as one million dollars.

The only injury reported was received by an unidentified woman who jumped from the second floor of an apartment building and disappeared in the crowd of spectators. Her arm was bleeding.

U. N. To Recess Mideast Debate

U. S. Backs Plan For Israeli Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly prepared today to put its heated Middle East debate on ice for several days while delegates sought some solution to the Israeli-Egyptian deadlock.

Informed sources said the 80-nation Assembly planned to sidetrack the discussion after Russia and several Arab states have their say. The Russians were expected to press demands that Israel get out of Egypt and to oppose any plan to widen the scope of the U.N. Emergency Force.

Several British Commonwealth nations were reported seeking support for a plan to bolster Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's efforts to get Israeli troops out of Egypt and broaden the duties of the U.N. force.

The plan gained impetus when the United States threw its support behind Hammarskjöld's efforts as spelled out in his detailed report.

U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. did not offer any resolution mapping out these moves. But informed diplomats said he has been discussing such a proposal with Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and others.

The plan would call again on the Israelis to pull back to the 1949 armistice line. It would authorize Hammarskjöld to station UNEF troops on both the Israeli and Egyptian sides of the armistice line from the Gaza Strip around to the Gulf of Aqaba.

It would also call for sending U.N. units to the Sharm el Sheikh area along the gulf to act as truce observers. They would try to ensure freedom of Israeli shipping through the gulf.

Opens Way For Passage Of Ike's Mideast Plan

Senate To Review U.S. Middle East Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees voted unanimously today to conduct a complete review of U. S. foreign policy in the Middle East over the last 11 years.

The vote was 30-0.

Senate GOP Leader Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. Wiley (Wis.), ranking Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the White House and State Department had no objection to the inquiry.

The action apparently cleared the way for ultimate Senate adoption of a resolution giving President Eisenhower authority to use U. S. forces to combat any Communist aggression in the Middle East. The Eisenhower resolution would also authorize 20 million dollars of aid to Middle East nations.

The vote by the Senate committee came as the House began debate on the Eisenhower program with prospects of its approval in that body Wednesday.

Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) said he thought there was a chance, in fact, of a House vote late today.

Knowland had told reporters earlier in the day, after a conference of Republican legislative leaders at the White House, that the administration would make every effort to cooperate with the review of Middle East policy.

Knowland called the idea of the review "acceptable" to the President and Secretary of State Dulles.

Knowland emphasized that an original proposal advanced by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) was not acceptable to the administration. Fulbright called last week for a review of American policy in the Middle East in advance of any

Herter To Be Ike's Policy Coordinator

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts was in line today to become the Eisenhower administration's chief policy coordinator. Vice President Nixon had been considered for the job.

Herter, scheduled to succeed Herbert Hoover Jr. as undersecretary of state this week, is expected to replace Hoover also as chairman of the Operations Coordinating Board.

In this role, he would see that government departments followed presidential policies and directives weren't sabotaged down the line.

President Eisenhower is reported to have decided against moving Nixon into the OCB chairmanship because too much detailed work is involved. He reportedly plans to use Nixon instead on special, specific policy missions at home and abroad.

Churchmen Rap Horse Racing

Pastors Call For End Of Gambling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Council of Churches Monday night called for an end to horse racing in Ohio.

Gambling in general, but horse racing in particular, came under the council's fire during a business meeting of the Ohio Pastor's Convention. The four-day convention is being held in the Franklin County Veterans Memorial here.

A resolution adopted at the business session declared:

"The assembly of the Ohio Council of Churches opposes gambling and particularly censures the gambling conducted under the Horse Racing Act by which the State of Ohio purports to license and supervise gambling, and, in reality, shares the profits of such gambling by way of a tax thereon."

The Assembly instructed its executive committee to work for repeal of the Horse Racing Act, or to look for means to test its constitutionality.

In another resolution, the Assembly praised the people of Ohio for providing food, clothing and homes for Hungarian refugees.

A third resolution protested what the Assembly termed "violence and discrimination" against the Koinonia Community, and interracial Christian community near Americus, Ga.

Earlier in Monday's program, some 1,500 ministers heard addresses by a number of leading religious, academic and civic leaders.

J. Earnest Wilkins, assistant U. S. Secretary of Labor discussed "the Christian approach to international labor relations."

"The first thing that we should do," he told the convention, "is to see that people who go aboard to the greatest extent possible behave like decent Christian citizens."

Dr. John Baillie, one of six presidents of the World Council of Churches and principal of New College, Edinburgh, Scotland, submitted the term "liberals" to a theological examination.

Theologically, he said, "liberalism can be described as the movement from the fixed traditions and ideas of the church to greater freedom of interpretation." He added that "the liberalism of one generation is the orthodoxy of the next."

In another address, Dr. James E. Wagner, president of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, told the convention that nearly all major protestant denominations are "nominally affiliated" because of the ecumenical (Christian church-wide) movement.

But, he continued, "we must commit ourselves to an educational program which will probably be long and sometimes burdensome, by which our people can be freed from the habit of giving priority to denominational names and loyalties and by so doing relegating our oneness in Christ to a secondary place in their thinking."

Dr. David A. McLennon, senior minister of Brick Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N. Y., told the group that preachers can learn a great deal from mass media in the ways of speaking directly and persuasively.

"Concise, clear, vivid messages," he said, "as pictorial and as relevant as a daily newspaper's headline story or as a TV spectacular, are the ideal of many churchgoers."

In another talk, Dr. David H. C. Read, minister of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York, described the church as "a holy society in which we believe" and not "just an association that we join."

Ross Sanderson, associate director of the department of the city church, National Council of Churches, urged formation of an urban church department in the Ohio Council of Churches in order to "discover what Protestantism is doing to redeploy its forces in the light of swift social change."

The convention will hold its annual banquet this evening. Gov. C. William O'Neill and Dr. Louis H. Evans, minister-at-large of the board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., will be speakers.

'Don't Call Me General,' Saxbe Asks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Don't call me general."

That was the request of William Saxbe, Ohio's new attorney general, at a get-acquainted luncheon today with members of his staff.

About 60 attended the affair in the Columbus Athletic Club.

Saxbe, former speaker of the Ohio House, asked to be called Bill.

A colonel in the Ohio National Guard, Saxbe said that he might go along with "General" if he could get Adjutant General Leo M. Kreber to use that title. Kreber is commander of the Guard.

Saxbe said that courtesy and helpfulness would be the watchwords of his office. He urged his aides to take advantage of their opportunities for legal experience.

"Many people over the state feel that their work in the attorney's general's department was a high spot in their lives," Saxbe said. "If you apply yourselves, you will get valuable experience. If you goof around, you won't."

He described the attorney general's department as "one of the largest law offices in the state of Ohio."

Saxbe promised to maintain "an open-door" policy toward newsmen in operating his office. He warned aides that they must not engage in the outside practice of law while in the attorney general's office.

Saxbe, an unsuccessful candidate for U.S. Senator in 1954, indicated that he would seek political office again next year.

He recalled a saying that when a candidate takes office his next campaign starts.

"That is true," he asserted. "Saxbe asked his aides to make appearances at political meetings when that activity did not interfere with their office work."

Several weeks ago, bombs blasted the yards of two Negro men, but police said they didn't think there was any connection between those blasts and the latest incidents.

Faces Trial For Massillon Slayings

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Nicholas M. Kostic, 39, has been pronounced mentally able to stand trial on a first-degree murder charge, but his court-appointed attorneys say there will be no change in his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Kostic was indicted last June in the slaying of his estranged wife, Mary, 34, and Dr. H. P. Hart in Massillon. He was taken to Lima State Hospital for an examination after a sanity hearing.

The superintendent of the hospital, Dr. R. E. Bushong, told Common Pleas Judge Paul G. Weber Monday that Kostic has "made a mental recovery" and can stand trial.

Controlling Soil Erosion

Seven steps recommended by University of Illinois agronomists for controlling erosion and cutting losses of topsoil and water, are listed by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee:

1. Treat the soil. Apply 1 1/2 tons of fertilizer as needed. The more you build up the productivity of the fields in grass and legumes, the greater will be the protection from erosion. Luxuriant plant cover and rich organic matter hold the soil in place.

2. Use rotations that include grasses and legumes. Grow these crops often enough to keep soil losses at a safe, low level.

3. Manage crops in a way that will reduce erosion. Good management includes disking down stalks in the fall and moderate grazing of grain and pasture.

4. Farm on the contour. This not only helps hold soil, but increases yields.

5. Combine strip cropping or terracing with contouring on slopes too long or too steep for contouring alone.

6. Provide grass waterways and outlets to remove runoff.

7. Improve soil drainage. Establish good root systems and install tile systems where needed.

"These steps," say the agronomists, "are essential for continued profitable farming on your land."

Top Ten Tomato Club

A Wood county farmer and a Darke county father and son are 1956 winners in the Ohio Top Ten Tomato club E. C. Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist, has announced.

The champion tomato growers are Ivan Freeman of RD 1, Deshler, and W. R. and Scott Ferguson of RD 4, Union City, Ind. Freeman produced 30.86 tons of tomatoes per acre on 18.51 acres under contract for a canning company in Leipzig and the Fergusons grew 30.58 tons per acre on 8.17 acres in Darke county for a Greenville company.

It was the first time in the history of the club, organized in 1947, that any winner has produced over 30 tons to the acre, Wittmeyer said.

The state winners followed good cultural practices to gain their high yields. Both selected well drained fields of dark loam soil, and in both cases the fields were fall-plowed. Freeman applied 100 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate before plowing and after plowing drilled in 700 pounds per acre of 5-20-20 fertilizer. Later he side-dressed the crop with 300 pounds per acre additional fertilizer.

The Fergusons applied a heavy application of manure on clover seed and drilled in 500 pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer per acre after plowing. A starter fertilizer in the transplanter water gave the plants a boost at planting time. Both growers had their soil tested before applying fertilizer. The Fergusons planted tomatoes of the Rutgers variety and Freeman planted Urbana, a new variety.

The Ohio Top Ten Tomato club is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Ohio Canners Association.

Yacht For Secretary?

By RELMAN MORIN
For Hal Boyle

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a man in the White House who spends most of his time in the answer box on a kind of super quiz show.

His task, in part, is to come up with the information if a member of the President's staff should happen to ask—

"Is it okay for the secretary of the treasury to own a yacht?"

Answer: No. An old law sets him apart from the rest of us in this respect. The intent of it was, apparently, to keep the man who handles the nation's money from goofing off on sunny summer afternoons.

"Does the whole cabinet have to be renominated when a President starts his new term?"

Answer: Only the postmaster general. His tenure has a specific expiration date, so he must go through the forms again.

And so on, six days a week, sometimes on Sunday.

The man who gets these queries—and most are infinitely more complicated—is A. Wayne Hawks, chief of the Office of Records in the White House. He is alert, sharp eyed, a former sportswriter and telegraph operator, two professions that help a man in almost any job.

He came to the White House shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor when, naturally, the President's communications ballooned to fantastic proportions. Later, Hawks came into his present assignment.

To a considerable degree, Hawks' office mirrors the incredible complexity of the President's many-sided task.

Thousands of papers relating to virtually the whole business of big government come across his desk. He files complete copies of some, keeps only the gist of others. Even so, his files long ago spilled from the White House to the attic of the old State Department building.

It takes 18 books on appointments, alone, to contain the different qualifications for different offices. For instance, it is much simpler to nominate a man for a cabinet post than for some obscure body.

Hawks is forever poring over dusty records, chasing that elusive sive ghost known as the "intent" of a law. As time passes, a statute may come to assume forms wholly unlike the aims of Congress when the law was passed.

He also has saturated himself, from necessity, with the background of a famous running dispute—the actions of different presidents with respect to denying information to congressional committees. Remember the Army-McCarthy hearings of several years back?

"You have to remember another thing," Hawks said, "from the date this administration took office, the staff began studying ways of relieving the President of unnecessary paper work. I suppose I see as much of the picture as anybody. Plenty of dead wood is gone."

A University Here?

Legislation is to be introduced soon in the Ohio assembly at Columbus to authorize the establishment of a new state university in eastern Ohio.

Columbiana County is one of six counties being considered as a site and Salem and county officials might do well to put their best foot forward and sell this area as a populous center for such an educational center.

Belmont County, through the Barnesville Chamber of Commerce, already has put in its bid for the new university, if and when the time comes. The Salem Chamber of Commerce might do likewise. A commission is expected to be named soon to pick a site, either through purchase or gift.

Steubenville in Jefferson County already has a college and Columbiana County is as populous as any of the others — Carroll, Harrison, Belmont and Monroe.

An offer of an ideally - situated site here might prove very attractive to the commission when it begins its survey for the proposed school.

Right Of Inquiry

A building trades leader is quoted by Associated Press as asking why it is any concern of Congress if crimes have been committed by union officials. He thinks crime is solely the concern of police authority and the courts.

This point has been brushed up so often it should not have to be brushed up again. But if a faction of union officials call for a showdown on the right of union officials to inquire about shady union practices for the purpose of dealing with them under the law, the rest of us must take this position:

Collective bargaining is guaranteed by federal law. Union labor has a federal charter, so to speak. It is the responsibility of Congress, therefore, to keep itself informed about what has been taking place under the charter, which also specifies the obligations of employers.

If the charter has been misused or abused, Congress will have to act.

Before it can act, it must inform itself. And before it can inform itself, it must hold hearings, which is what it is doing. If no crimes have been committed and if no crimes even have been contemplated, the union witnesses have nothing to fear. If they have something to fear, Congress will know it has work to do.

Sleigh Ride For J. F. Dulles

The most conspicuous fact of international life right now is the popularity of Britain and France in the Middle East.

All the resentment that had accumulated against them for generations flared into burning hostility when they tried to settle the Suez issue with high explosives.

This is what John Foster Dulles meant when he told hecklers of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he would prefer not to be standing between a British soldier and a French soldier in the Middle East.

This is what every critic of Mr. Dulles knew he meant, including critics in London and Paris — and it is why all his critics are screaming that he insulted the British and French.

He did nothing of the kind. John Foster Dulles is on a political sleigh ride. The strategy is to make him the target of so much abuse that President Eisenhower will throw him out to appease the hecklers.

We think the hecklers have underestimated their man. Ezra Taft Benson and Charles Wilson are still in the sleigh, and their hecklers were just as eager to be appeased as the solves waiting for John Foster Dulles.

That's Progress

It seems only yesterday that the Army retired the last of its mules and pigeons. Now the Air Force has retired the last of its propeller - driven fighter planes.

They will keep a sample propeller plane in the Air Force Museum at Dayton for children to gawk at in the years to come. But the evolution of planes is so rapid the gawkers may pass it in favor of some "relic" of the jet era that is still on the drafting boards at the close of the propeller era.

Yet, progress sometimes seems to whizz in a circle. This Einsteinian behavior is noted in a progress report from Chicago, where tracks are being built into a new expressway for automobiles.

What will the tracks be used for? Lightweight trains that will run at high speeds to carry hordes of passengers into and out of downtown Chicago, relieving congestion of motor vehicles on the expressway.

Some of us old - timers could swear this was the way it used to be done before jet airplanes began to fly so fast they caught up with their own bullets and had to start using wasive tactics against themselves.

Mr. Dulles Guilty?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Aswan White Paper Might Embarrass Congress

Did Secretary Dulles "direct" Nasser to seize the Suez Canal, and did he "direct" the British, and French troops to go into action there last autumn?

Thus a casual reading of the statement made to the Senate Foreign Relations committee by Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas gives the impression that Mr. Dulles is responsible for everything bad that has happened in the Middle East. For Mr. Fulbright says:

"This disastrous and remarkable collapse of our relations with our closest allies has taken place under the direction of the present secretary of state and apparently during the relatively short space of a few months."

Mr. Fulbright wants to know "about the course of our relations with Colonel Nasser; how and why we became involved in the Aswan Dam project and what led to the secretary's abrupt withdrawal of the offer just as it was being accepted by Colonel Nasser, a procedure calculated to give the greatest possible offense."

Sen. Fulbright is a conscientious man and he and the country are indeed entitled to know what happened but if all the facts were put out in a "white paper," as he suggested, it might place certain members of Congress themselves in the embarrassing position of having been to no small extent responsible for the debacle by refusing to give the President the discretionary powers he had asked for on foreign aid.

THE LESS governments say publicly, moreover, in criticism of each other in "white papers," the easier it is to conduct diplomatic relations. But newsmen can gather the facts from a variety of reliable sources in London, Paris and Washington and publish them.

This correspondent presents today a brief summary of what happened on the inside with reference to the so-called "abrupt" termination of the Aswan Dam negotiations:

1. In November 1955 the United States government, the British government and the world bank carried on at Washington a negotiation with the Egyptian minister of finance and an agreement was worked out to help finance the building of the Aswan Dam.

2. An agreement was accelerated because Egypt had made an arms deal for Russian arms to be supplied through Czechoslovakia. The World Bank had been working for three years on the Aswan Dam problem.

3. The agreement provided that the United States would grant 56 million dollars, Great Britain 14 million and the World Bank about 200 million, making a total of 270 million dollars.

4. The terms were taken back to Cairo for Nasser to approve. The Egyptian president didn't like the agreement, particularly the conditions of repayment laid down by the World Bank. So, in February 1956, Nasser invited Eugene Black, president of the World Bank to come to Cairo to discuss it.

DURING A TWO-WEEK visit, Mr. Black urged Nasser to accept the agreement as being very liberal indeed but Nasser said he wasn't satisfied.

One of the things that worried him was that the 270 million dollars left him about 130 million short of the 400 million he needed in foreign exchange. He wanted a commitment for more than 130 million dollars.

5. Word was transmitted to the United States and British governments and they promptly said they would give "sympathetic consideration" to his request. But at that time the foreign-aid bill was pending in Congress.

Although President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles couldn't say so, they wanted the broad power or so-called "blank check" authority for "long range" aid primarily to handle a situation like this. It would have taken 18 years to build the Aswan Dam and a long-range commitment couldn't be given without the consent of Congress.

6. At this time there was a decided sentiment in Congress against long-range commitments, the administration's foreign-aid bill was in trouble and several southern senators feared competition from Egyptian cotton with American cotton if this country, in effect, relieved Egypt of some of her obligations in the foreign exchange markets of the world.

7. In July 1956 Nasser accepted the original conditions of the World Bank but still wanted to get a change in the terms of the grants by the American and British governments.

The Egyptian ambassador at Washington, after a trip to Cairo, told Mr. Dulles that Nasser now was prepared to go ahead.

BUT BETWEEN February and July 1956 Nasser had invited himself more deeply with the Russians and had mortgaged more and more of his cotton to pay for the arms from the Communists. Likewise the British felt Nasser had been instrumental in expelling Gen. Glubb from Jordan, the French felt Nasser was instigating much of the trouble in Algeria and supplying arms to the rebels and many members of Congress were alienated because Nasser deliberately recognized Communist China — the first U.N. member to do this since the Korean War.

All this, together with the attitude of southern senators on the cotton question, caused the collapse of the Aswan Dam negotiations.

8. Nasser hinted in a statement long before the Aswan Dam negotiations failed that he would seize the Suez Canal at any time he wished.

Britain and France became so exasperated over Nasser's behavior in the negotiations with him after the seizure of the canal that, though urged by Secretary Dulles not to use military force, they did so anyhow.

IF CONGRESS had been willing to let Mr. Dulles make a pledge of 130 million dollars more back in February 1956, would there have been a crisis in the Middle East? Would it have made any difference, since Nasser was operating closely with the Communists and trying to play one side against the other?

It is interesting to speculate what a big crisis in the world might have been averted if members of Congress who like to blame the secretary of state had been willing to give the administration discretionary powers over long-range foreign aid.

The President is asking again for some of the same kind of broad authority to deal with an ever-changing situation in the Middle East. Will he get it, or will Congress block it again?

Expanded Foreign Trade

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Many businessmen today are looking for expanded foreign trade this year — no matter how the Congressional debate goes over expanded foreign aid.

But a new possible barrier to American goods may be in the making across the Atlantic this coming weekend.

American exporters are watching closely the move of Western European nations to unite in one common market — a move which some here fear would erect new trade barriers against American goods. About one fourth of our exports are taken each year by those nations.

The urge to unite economically was given a big push by the Suez Canal closing, which brought all European nations a shortage of essential oil.

The Swiss Bank Corp. of Basle notes that this disaster "demonstrated convincingly that all peoples of Western Europe share a common destiny."

Representatives of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands will meet this coming weekend in Brussels to discuss the financial first steps for setting up such a union. If agreement is reached the formal signing of the pact will come on February 17. England and some of the other neighboring nations have indicated they would associate themselves in part with the plan later.

The ultimate goal is a customs union, which would mean no tariffs on goods traded among the members — but with the United States left on the outside. Some think the gradual lowering of these tariff barriers will take 12 to 15 years.

The plan is unlikely to effect American trade this year. And even the blow to European industry given by the canal blocking isn't enough to cause American exporters to lower their sights for a record year in 1957.

Glitter Hides Paris Fashion Bloom

By BERNARD KAPLAN

PARIS — With all their traditional and well - calculated glitter, France's big, dollar-earning fashion designers this week will present their usual spring collections.

The beautiful women, champagne and aura of luxury will be evident, as always. But, behind these, the earnest men and women who run this country's most important and famous industry are deeply worried.

The plain fact is, the French fashion business is ailing, a victim of new and vigorous competition abroad and a changing way of life. Rising costs, a vanishing clientele and heavy taxes have led some of the best-known names in the trade to close down their establishments during the past few years or switch to the more profitable business of bottling perfume.

One of the oldest leading houses, Germaine Lecomte, gave up less than a fortnight before the spring showings. Madame Lecomte, who had survived since 1929, was the fourth major couturier to fold in less than eight months.

NONE OF THIS might be too significant were it not that female fashion, in all its aspects, still is France's biggest industry and by far, its leading dollar earner.

The government, just as much as the designers, is disturbed by signs French fashion prestige is beginning to slip, though the latter claim the government could do much to help by reducing the formidable tax burden they bear.

Three or four top couturiers seem to be doing fabulously well. For most of the others, business has fallen off markedly, despite world-wide prosperity. Several are clearly worried about their chances of surviving until the next fashion openings roll around.

Even the most prosperous are not ringing up the sales of more carefree eras.

"No French fashion houses have ever been more widely publicized or organized in a more business-like fashion than Dior," said a French expert. "But even Dior only sells about half the number of dresses in a season that comparable houses did 30 years ago.

THE BIG FASHION houses of today must branch out into all sorts of side-lines—lingerie, stockings, sweaters, perfumes—in order to insure their profits.

"Times have changed. Wealthy women will not spend as much on their clothes as their mothers did. What is perhaps more to the point, their husbands won't spend it on them, either. Life is more informal, therefore, so is fashion. The average woman of means today spends most of her day in slacks, covered by a mink coat."

Times have changed in other ways as well, most of them bad for French fashion. French designers once enjoyed something close to a monopoly. What few foreign rivals they had lacked prestige outside their own countries.

World War II marked the big break. Though French couture revived from five years of German occupation with surprising vigor, it had been long enough to give other nations their opportunity.

MOST NOTABLY, of course, the United States. American buyers still flock to the Paris openings but in recent years it has become a moot point whether Paris designs most influence New York's Seventh Avenue—or vice versa.

Italy, Spain even England are now supplying serious competition for French high fashion. And the prices in these countries are well below French levels, as most American female tourists quickly discover.

So far, few French couturiers have cut their own price tags to meet the challenge, though one, Jacques Fath, this spring promises a collection for an average of $200 a dress, about half the usual price.

"Fashion industries are springing up in nearly every country," said the head of one Paris house. "They all pay homage to French skill and imagination and they do us honor by copying us. Frankly, we would prefer they praised us less and bought from us more."

About The Weather

By TRUMAN TWILL

Howdy, stranger, and what would you say about a climate in which you were floating down the river in the evening and skating back the next morning?

What words could you find to do justice to a climate in which it is possible to get stuck in the mud, walk a half mile for help and find you are no longer stuck in mud but frozen in ice when you return?

Are there expressions that will do justice to a climate that sheathes an automobile in solid ice before the last of a deluge of rain-water has drained off and hit the ground?

How can any adjectives convey the proper impression of a climate in which water pouring into a leaky basement in a rivulet turns into an icicle before it can hit the floor?

Who can think of the right epithets for a climate so wobbly and uncertain that a householder who throws on one or two extra dogs for an extra-cold night is waked up before morning by their panting because the temperature has risen to midsummer levels?

Is there any way to convey in language the ineffable qualities of a climate in which a sound sleeper corks off in stifling heat with all the windows wide open and wakes up in a snowdrift?

Can there be any mystery why words fail when commenting on a climate that sends a sucker aloft to fix a leak in the roof and strands him up there with a winter gale that blows down the ladder?

Does the medical profession have a suitable way to make observations about a climate in which patients trying to protect themselves from chilling and overheating must go equipped with Bermuda shorts and sealskins at all times?

When will the lexicographers come to the fore with expletives suitable for a climate in which ducks land in water and become encased in ice while thinking things over?

Would it be any disgrace to be struck dumb by the impact of a climate in which a neat housewife sallies forth to hose down the porch and struggles back with an apronful of ice cubes?

What can be said about a climate in which you throw another log on the fire just before the temperature rises 60 degrees, pour on water to quench the unwanted fire and the water turns into a cake of ice before it can run into the ash-pit?

Must there be a kind word left for a climate in which an amphibious dog jumps into a creek for a warm-weather swim and comes up under a layer of skin ice that formed after he hit the water?

How could anyone expect to say anything appropriate to the occasion when grain that has been put out for snowbound birds is washed away by a heavy shower and encased in a cerealized ice mosaic before the birds can pick it up?

Such a climate would have to be survived to be believed, and even then the survivors would hesitate to talk about it, lest they be written off as incorrigible liars, or press agents for Florida? Wouldn't we?

Mixed Reception

As measured by its reception in the Middle East, the so-called Eisenhower doctrine is neither totally welcome nor wholly unwelcome.

After a two-day meeting, the countries of the Baghdad pact — Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan — declared their support of the President's proposal to defend any Middle Eastern nation with force if requested.

But since these lands have long been eager to see the United States more closely identified with their joint defense pact, this announcement occasions no surprise.

On the other hand, four other countries in the area have gone on record as opposed to Mr. Eisenhower's plan. They include Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

Nothing else would be expected now from the first two, which show marked signs of Communist influence, nor from Jordan, which is pitifully weak.

Arabia is another story. It already has defense ties with America and is heavily dependent on U.S. oil royalties for basic economic support. We must hope that during King Saud's visit here we can pry him loose from the hostile tier of Arab states and thus reduce Russia's potential spawning ground in the Middle East.

The Boat Show Lure

What takes countless non-nautical folks to a National Motorboat and Yacht Show? Why do thousands of people who have never owned a rowboat, been in water over their heads or bothered to learn the difference between a binnacle and a gasket fight their way from exhibit to exhibit to get a closeup of everything from a glass-bottomed skiff up to a 58-foot twin-motored yacht?

Everybody who goes to an auto show has a car or wants one. Most folks at sportsmen's shows, have a yen, however remote, for hunting or fishing. But people who get seakick on moving stairways, are nervous when near a dock, feel safe only when up a tree and loathe foghorns, figure a yacht show must not be skipped.

WE THINK it opens a dream world. They may never expect to own a boat but the show takes them to the Never - Never Land in which they first became interested through a fondness for stories of the Lipton cup races and a desire to find a mood wide open to the Vanderbilts and Huttons, but wholly denied them.

EVEN A LANDLUBBER, to whom a marine chart is a mystery and a "hatch" something to do with baby chicks, has felt the spell of great sea stories, seen Winslow Homer and Gordon Grant paintings or been jealous of a neighbor who invited his friends out weekends on a cruiser, however small and topheavy, called "Water Sprite."

Perhaps he got that way reading travel literature and studying pictures of white yachts in exotic harbors.

At any rate he battles his way into a yacht show, gets flustered in covering the four floors of exhibits, climbs over scores of vessels, wears himself out trying to look and act like a hot prospect for something in the $75,000 ocean-going class and emerges, limp, bleeding but with something of the satisfaction attained by Columbus, Hendrik Hudson and anybody who was ever a guest on Morgan's "Corsair."

HE TAKES NOTE on the prices, lounges on the deck chairs, inspects the galleys, studies the Diesels and asks for another pound and half of circulars. He climbs to the flying bridge and takes a stand at the wheel like a character out of Joseph Conrad. He may buy only a ham and cheese sandwich at the show but for a few hours he has lived dangerously, fantastically and expensively.

This is not to hint that a yacht show does not attract cash customers galore and sell hundreds of ships. Real boating men attend in force. They are the ones who move about calmly and ask few questions.

They are distinguishable from the mere sight-seers because of the fact their heads are not all cut up through forgetting to pull in their necks when "going below."

KING SAUDI (Old King Oil) is visiting America and will probably want to see Rockefeller Center, the Socony Flying Horse, our gasoline company's billboards and some of those Texas oilmen who think there are rich . . . He looks a little like Groucho Marx dressed up for an early Romberg opera.

Jerry Lewis didn't do badly in his first TV show without his old partner but he was trying so hard it exhausted the audience . . . We thought he was at his best in the one bit that called for no slapstick routine to speak of, the interlude where he burlesqued the leader of a choral group . . . In a singing finale he used two orchestras but it will take at least three before his voice can be drowned out to the complete satisfaction of voice experts.

In that Polish election the voters had the choice of voting three ways, yes, yes or yes.

We can be pretty wrong on musicals . . . We caught "The Bells Are Ringing" on the road and thought it exceedingly dull . . . It is one of the biggest Broadway hits of the season . . . The night we saw it, Judy Holiday had one arm in a sling, and it is possible we had our head in one.

Seven Killed In Explosion

Store, Apartment Building Levelled

ROSELLE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities investigated the shattered ruins of a two-story brick hardware store-apartment building which exploded and burned Monday killing seven persons and injuring nine others.

The nighttime blast and flash fire, which police said apparently was caused by leaking gas, littered rubble through the business section of this northern Illinois town of 1,000.

Police said they believed all the victims were in the store. The injured were in nearby shops or on the sidewalk.

The blast broke windows for blocks around and was felt several miles away. Its impact blew a woman from a second-story apartment onto a shed roof. She is Mrs. Amanda Gieseke, mother of hardware store operator Herbert Gieseke, 40, whom police listed among the dead.

Police Chief Gerald Young said Public Service Co. employees were drilling post holes in the area and that they drilled through a gas main in front of the hardware store. He said repairs from the Northern Illinois Gas Co. were called and shortly after they went into the basement of the store the blast occurred.

Fire officials estimated damage at $300,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Van Doren, a 44-year-old English instructor at Columbia University, Monday night boosted his winnings to $122,000 on NBC's television program "Twenty-One."

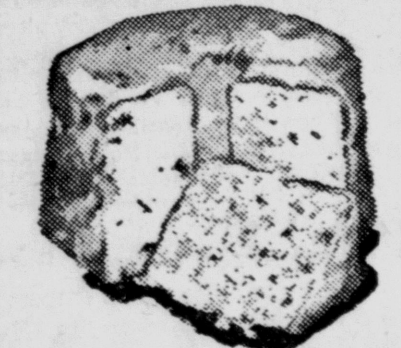

He entered Monday night's competition against two opponents as the biggest money-winner on TV quiz programs by virtue of finishing last week's contest with $104,500. Five persons had shared the record with winnings of $100,000 on the "Big Surprise."

Van Doren, a 30-year-old bachelor, has until Feb. 11 to decide whether he'll try to increase his winnings. There is no limit. A special show will replace "Twenty-one" next week, giving Van Doren an extra week to think it over.

New York's Mayor Bars Welcome For King Saud Or Tito

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner has barred an official city welcome for King Saud of Saudi Arabia, who arrives Tuesday en route to Washington for conferences with President Eisenhower.

The mayor also has banned any city welcome if Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia should ever visit New York.

Speaking Sunday night at a dinner of the Brooklyn division of the Jewish National Fund, Wagner said:

"There appears to be two visits by foreign rulers that may begin here.

"One of these is the dictator of Yugoslavia. We don't want him in New York because he's a Communist and because he's anti-religious. As far as we're concerned he'll get no consideration here.

Collects Money To Aid Negro Bombing Victim

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers, a director of the pro-segregation Montgomery Citizens' Council, is collecting money to help the Negro victim of a bombing.

Sellers said Monday night he was accepting contributions to be used to replace furniture of Allen Robertson, whose rented home was damaged Sunday by a bomb in Montgomery's continuing racial tension.

Robertson, his wife and daughter, asleep in the house, were not injured.

Sellers said he had been attended by Robertson, a 59-year-old hospital orderly, while hospitalized. He called the Negro an "innocent bystander" in the bombing, which police are still investigating together with six other bombings in the past three weeks.

Court Reverses Conviction Of Alleged Red

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today reversed the conviction of Ben Gold on charges of filing a false non-Communist oath under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The court divided 6-3 in ordering a new trial for the Russian-born former president of the International Fur and Leatherworkers Union.

Gold's conviction was reversed "because of official intrusion into the privacy of the jury."

Near the close of the government's case in Gold's trial in U.S. District Court here, FBI agents contacted three members of the jury or their families in connection with an unrelated case.

The Supreme Court said in a brief unsigned order the fact that the intrusion was "unintentional" does not remove the effect of the intrusion.

Justice Reed wrote a brief dissenting opinion, in which Justices Burton and Clark joined. Clark wrote a similar dissenting opinion in his own name.

Gold received a prison sentence of one to three years. The U. S.

OUT WITH ANOPHELES

Youngsters are being inoculated by a health official in the city of Villahermosa.

HEALTH soldiers are moving in to combat an ancient enemy down Mexico way. That enemy is the anopheles mosquito, carrier of malaria. To fight this ravager, Mexico is divided into 14 zones, each of which is sub-divided still further. Anti-malaria teams spray DDT in homes and public buildings and then report all cases of suspected malaria. United States is watching this battle closely because migrant workers flow from Mexico into southwestern part of nation. Campaign will cost Mexico approximately $20 million. Part of that amount will be paid by the United Nations and part by a special grant from the United States for a hemisphere-wide fight against the dreaded disease. Technical experts from the World Health organization are assisting in the planning.

Former Thief Now Butler For Official

LONDON (AP)—A thief who confessed helping to steal $3,000 pounds ($158,400) in cash and jewels disclosed today he is butler to Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft.

An accomplice in the big theft landed a similar post with Dr. Carlos Echague, the Argentine minister in London. Dr. Echague is in the market for a replacement, though; his man is going to jail.

Donald MacLeod, 43, told reporters he confessed his part in the robbery of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland's home in 1952 to Thorneycroft, who knew his family.

"He advised me to tell the police," MacLeod said. "I turned Queen's evidence because of Mr. Thorneycroft's advice. He told me then he would look after me if I were truthful. He has kept his word."

Because he testified against his accomplices, MacLeod was freed. Victor G. Sparkes, the duke's butler at the time of the robbery, drew a five-year jail sentence. Dr. Echague had employed him as a chauffeur-butler.

A third man who took part in the theft, Arthur Burley, was sentenced to seven years in prison.

ilar to the President's to "work toward eliminating the last vestiges of discrimination in Ohio."

A health department laboratory to aid local communities in solving air pollution problems, including those from peacetime use of atomic energy, and modernization of the state's pure food laws with a ban of "goof balls."

A "location data service" for community growth that will make full use of state-assembled information to aid industrial and other growth.

The governor attributed Ohio's growth climate to a balance between labor and industry, rural and city interests; balanced state finances and integrity in government with law and order.

Without promising that his objectives could be attained without new or increased taxes, O'Neill held out the hope of avoiding them through businesslike state management.

One of the first steps in that direction, he said, will be mechanization of the Finance Department with a new division of management services composed of trained analysts.

"This staff will have special assignments to assist the executive and the directors of the departments in improving efficiency and eliminating waste in all state programs," O'Neill explained.

He said Ohio now has 11,000 employees spending most of their time on paper work costing the state more than 40 million dollars annually.

To aid long range state building plans, he proposed placing the state Capital Planning and Improvement Division under a "revitalized" public works department. The board was created to keep building plans at least six years ahead of actual construction.

The Division of Insurance, now in the Commerce Department, should become a separate department, he said, to better act as "trustee for billions of dollars of the savings and earnings of our people."

The Legislature's leaders, Sen. C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville and House Speaker Roger Cloud of DeGraff, in a joint statement "It was a very good message and shows the governor has a grasp of the state's problems. It indicates his complete intent to put into rapid effect the Legislature's program of the last several years."

"It also showed the governor's correct analysis that most of Ohio's problems are over in the administrative field rather than in the Legislature. And we are glad to see that the governor is going to adopt effective means to do the job that needs to be done."

Police Arrest Worker For Slaying Of Wife

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police early today captured Edwin F. Smith, 38-year-old ironworker sought in the "rock 'n' roll" shotgun slaying of his wife.

Officers said Smith was seized at his home when he alighted from a taxi.

Police sought Smith since Sunday when his wife, Mary Jean, 26, died of wounds suffered in a shotgun blast that struck her under the heart. The shooting took place Jan. 21 at her mother's home.

Investigators said he admitted shooting his wife because she got "this Elvis Presley rock 'n' roll jag and wouldn't tend to the kids"—their two children, age 3 and 5.

Friends Say Dulles Won't Quit His Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have no intention of resigning despite mounting attacks by some congressional foes on his handling of foreign policy.

Associates said today he has been somewhat surprised and stung by the sudden fury of Democratic assaults on him the past week during Senate hearings on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution, but is nevertheless confident he can weather the storm.

He believes he has Eisenhower's continued backing and confidence, they said, as well as that of top Republican leaders in Congress. Some of these already have spoken up in his defense.

Leading in the criticism have been Senators Fulbright (D-Ark), Morse (D-Ore) and Humphrey (D-Minn).

Despite verbal battering, the secretary, who underwent a major cancer operation less than three months ago, has suffered no apparent physical ill effects. He believes he has enough stamina to continue to direct the nation's foreign policy.

Two highly unpredictable factors could upset his determination to stay on: a breakdown in his health and a possible future Eisenhower decision he has become so controversial as to become a major political liability. Neither is now anticipated.

Eisenhower's continued confidence in Dulles may rest heavily on the Secretary's ability to patch up strained relations with Senate Democrats who accused him of avoiding direct replies as they questioned him.

which are University Schools," the hospital board chairman declared.

Will Transfer Students Arrangements will be made in conjunction with the Ohio State Nursing Board to transfer the non-graduate students in the present professional school on Sept. 1. The transfers will be made by hospital authorities or at the individual student's preference.

City Hospital opened its first nursing class in 1917, four years after the hospital was established. By way of further explanation of the hospital board's decision to convert the nursing school into a school for practical nurses, Atty. Metzger said:

"The nursing unit in today's general hospital is comprised of registered nurses, registered practical nurses, nurse aides, floor secretaries and orderlies. This unit, supervised by the registered nurses under the direction of the physicians and hospital administration, brings to every patient the modern concept of total medical care. "Hospital authorities feel that the registered practical nurse is now an integral part of the general hospital nursing unit. In the future a growing number of RPN's will be needed when geriatric (diseases of the aged) facilities are established around general hospitals."

"The new look in professional nursing education is the bachelor's degree with basic training in the general practice of all fields of professional nursing. Specialization (post-graduate work) begins with advanced study beyond this period. The university is the logical place to give the R.N. the rounded education that is necessary to meet the scientific requirements of today's professional nursing."

"The change will in no way affect the need for the fine support that has consistently been given to the school by the Women's Auxiliaries of Salem Hospitals and the Community Funds of Salem, Lisbon and Columbiana."

Metzger added that "community support will be vital and necessary for the benefit of the school and the community. The School of Practical Nursing will undoubtedly serve the community needs better now and in the future."

Ex-Leading Actress Dies Of Pneumonia

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Helene Costello, who once earned $3,000 a week starring in films with the late John Barrymore, is dead at 53 — a victim of pneumonia in a state hospital.

Officials said she was committed to Patton State Hospital in San Bernardino last week for narcotics addiction. She was committed under the name "Adrienne Costello."

Death came Saturday. Few at the hospital realized that she was the fragile beauty who had leading roles in Hollywood films in the late 20's and early 30's.

As late as 1942 she was still playing character parts and appeared in "Pride of the Yankees." But illness, financial problems and the heartbreak of four unsuccessful marriages had taken their toll. That same year she filed bankruptcy proceedings.

Miss Costello was the daughter of matinee idol Maurice Costello, and the sister of Dolores Costello Barrymore. Mrs. Barrymore, herself once a famed actress and the wife of John Barrymore, was with Miss Costello when she died.

ment on "a job well done" after the reading of a report by Clerk R. A. Hemstead. The report showed the water department ended 1956 with a fund balance of $196.

The department received an income of $35,955 and spent $27,655 last year, leaving a balance of $8,496.

Bruce Cox of Salem, district manager for the Ohio Fuel Co., was informed that Council had not acted on the gas firm's rate increase request and would not do so until all the councilmen were present.

The firm seeks a 27 per cent boost in the rates.

Cox told councilmen that his firm recently installed a temporary gas regulator in the village which has considerably increased the gas pressure to homes. At Council's last meeting complaints were registered regarding inadequate gas pressure.

A report of cemetery finances read at the meeting revealed there was a balance of $11,611 in the cemetery fund at the end of 1956. Of the balance, $4,000 was placed into the cemetery endowment fund. The report showed that a balance of $9,718 existed at the end of 1955. In 1956, income totaled $12,315 and expenditures, $10,422.

Council voted to install four 12-minute parking meters along the east side of Hamilton's Drug Store for a six-month trial period.

A discussion was held on the zoning ordinance but no action was taken.

HOW MUCH IS A USED CAR WORTH?

Depends on the make, the model, and the year, of course. Every dealer tries to tell you his make is worth the most.

Here are the facts! The resale value of every make, model, and year is listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the official "bible" of the industry. And here's what the NADA Guide shows:

"I listened to rumor!"

A used Studebaker is worth more than other cars in the low price field, model for model, year for year. For example, the 1956 Studebaker 4-door President has the highest average resale value, of all comparable V8's in its price class—both in percentage and in actual dollars and cents.

Craftsmanship does it!

Middletown Still Leads AP Poll; Cathedral Latin 2nd

Youngstown South Voted 9th; Lowellville 4th In Class A

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The road to Ohio's high school basketball heights is getting steeper.
At least five teams—three in the top 10—saw their Class A records sullied for the first time last week, and The Associated Press ratings were jumbled by the impact.
The swashbuckling deeds of Columbus East in the last two weeks sent the former state champs into 10th place in the poll despite a 7-5 record—the poorest ever to ease into the elite list.
Two weeks ago the Capital City club defeated Lockland Wayne's Class A powerhouse and then forced champion Middletown into an overtime before surrendering. Last week East banged into second place Columbus North and emerged with a 52-50 double-overtime conquest.
Zanesville, fourth last week with 12 straight, was halted 86-63 by Newark, and Tiffin Columbian's seventh-placers stopped at 11 as sixth-place Shelby triumphed 69-65.
Other big sprees to end were Cincinnati Roger Bacon's 11-game streak in a 59-57 overtime at the hands of Joe Martin's Lockland Wayne team, and Toledo Clay's 11-game stretch, which foundered on a 48-39 loss to Toledo Whitmer.
Dave Murray of Steubenville's unbeaten Big Red also saw a long streak end. He missed his first free throw against Bellaire St. John after making 25 in a row. The Big Red didn't miss it, however, as it triumphed 96-69 for its 10th conquest.
One streak everyone was glad to see end was a string of 32 straight losses suffered by Cumberland of Guernsey County. The team hadn't won since the opener of the 1955-56 campaign, but Myron Rhinehart scored 30 points to clinch a 68-58 verdict over Senecaville.
Cleveland Cathedral Latin, which has matched state champion Middletown's 13-game winning streak this year—but is far shy of the 38 straight the Butler Countians have compiled—breezed into second place and Canton McKinley's twice-beaten Bulldogs followed to third.
Only one change popped up in Class A, Lowellville jumping from 11th to fourth as Burton dropped out.

From Here and There: Cincinnati Roger Bacon, after losing to Lockland Wayne, came right back for a 59-57 win over Hamilton's Big Blue.
In addition to the three top 10 losers, two others had narrow escapes last week. Canton McKinley had to go two overtimes to eke out a 52-49 win over Kent Roosevelt, and Cuyahoga Falls nosed out Massillon 60-59 when a Tiger missed a last-second free throw. At that, the football-minded Tigers made 21 of 24 from the line for the charity line.
Larry Siegfried of Shelby gained a little more ground on Middle-town's Jerry Lucas in the battle for scoring laurels. The Shelby senior chalked up 43 in the win over Tiffin Columbian and 32 against Mansfield Madison to run his 13-game total to 499—an average of 38.6.
Lucas scored 34 against Mansfield, playing only three quarters in the 98-33 rout, for a 13-game total of 481 and an even 37 average.
Strasburg racked up its 47th straight Tuscarawas County League victory in the 94-47 tilt with Sugar Creek. Youngstown South (11-1) and Salem (10-1) clash tonight in one of the big games. South lost its opener to Farrell, Pa., but is clean since.
Springfield Township of Jefferson County, Green Springs and Racine have all won 14 in a row, but can't seem to get into the Class A top 10. New Boston has 12 in a row, and Piquette 11, but they aren't close, either. The same goes for Class AA, where Lakewood (9-0), Jackson of Stark County (12-0), Cadiz (11-0), Wyoming (11-0), Cincinnati Anderson (10-0) and Painesville Harvey (9-0) are among the also-rans.
Lancaster was behind Dover 51-40 with less than four minutes to go, but won it 55-53. The Fairfield County League was hot Friday as Rex Bode of Rushville, Carroll Johnston of Carroll and Buddy Miller of Pleasantville each scored 38 points.
Lima St. Gerard, which only five years ago went through 44 consecutive games without a victory, has copped 14 of 15 this season. Tom Hannan, who runs a retail fish house as his No. 1 job, became coach three years ago.
Don Lease, Forest High Junior, is averaging 30 points for a team which has won only 7 of 15. His 44 against Roundhead Friday marked the third straight time he's been over 40. Coach George Keel of Kenton says his 6-7 center, Jim Severs, is one of the state's best. He's averaging 26.

Chillicothe and Zanesville, tied for the Central Ohio League lead at 9-1, tangle Friday at Chillicothe. Prospect, unbeaten until it dropped a 74-72 nod to Pleasant in the Marion County League Friday, skidded all the way from undisputed first place to third. Sharrell Leffler, who fired 34 points for the winners, says he is going to make farming his career and will not go to college.

It's a foul game, Portsmouth believes. A week ago the Trojans outscored Hamilton 19-12 from the field, but lost 57-53. Last week Portsmouth had a 22-20 edge in field goals over Springfield, but bowed 67-57, the free throw line being the difference.

Last year Green Springs, in Coach Bud Rutherford's first season, won 1 and lost 16. This year his boys have won 14 straight, and they're hanging the "miracle man" tag on the Sandusky County mentor.

How They Voted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's how 53 sports editors, 33 from newspapers and 20 representing radio-television stations, rate Ohio's high school basketball teams this week in The Associated Press poll.

CLASS AA	Pts.	Won	Lost
Middletown (18)	414	13	0

DiBiase Whips Christensen

Collegian To Box Giovannelli Feb. 25

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—Tony DiBiase the college clown from New York University, had an unbeaten streak of 17 today and more important — another television payday carded for Feb. 25 against Danny Giovannelli.

The 21-year old welterweight prospect earned his second TV main event by whipping veteran Chris Christensen of Denmark in a 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night in a lively scrap.

"That will take care of plenty of expenses at college," said the articulate college junior who aims to be a geologist.

"In 2½ years I'll get my Masters Degree," said Tony, "then I'll see how long I'll want to box. Right now I want the money. If I'm going well in boxing and have a chance at the big money and the title I'll keep going. If not I'll hang up the gloves and pursue my profession."

He's a tough and aggressive fighter. He used a vicious body attack to pile up a big lead against his tall, skinny 30-year old rival. It came in handy as the ring-rusty Dave warmed up and made a good and exciting scrap after the fourth round.

Tony was nicked around both eyes and cut on the chin. Chris was gashed over the right eye. It was the Dane's first fight in 10 months because of managerial trouble and he showed the baron's early in the fight.

Referee Ray Miller (6-3-1) voted for DiBiase. Judge Charley Rosen had it even, 4-4-2 in round and 4-4 in points. The AP card had Tony in front, 6-3-1.

DiBiase won the national Golden Gloves title in 1953 and the NCAA crown in 1955 for the University of Virginia. He transferred to NYU when Virginia dropped boxing.

He weighed 148 last night, the same as the 5-11 Christensen, who was three inches taller.

German Team Wins 6-Day Bike Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—The German team of Herbert Weinrich and Heinz Zoll, after riding on the heels of the Australian teach through most of the six-day bike race here, slipped ahead in the final minutes and won the grueling race by a single lap Monday night.

The eight teams that finished the 2,083-mile race went around the temporary spruce track in Cleveland Arena 20,830 times in 146 hours. If they had been on the open road, they would have ended up somewhere west of Salt Lake City, Utah, when the race ended at 11 p.m.

Four teams went into the last hour tied for the lead in laps, but the Australian team was well out in front in sprint points. If there had been a tie, sprint points would have determined the winner.

Salem Frosh Trip E. Palestine 43-33

tripped the East Palestine Bulldog frosh 43-33 in a game played on the Salem floor Monday afternoon.

Herman, using a deadly jump shot from out around the key hole, dropped in six of nine field goal attempts for a shooting average of 66 per cent. Paul was also a demon on the boards, hauling down 14 of the Quakers' 32 rebounds.

Throughout the tilt both teams continually threw away passes and were not able to hit on their field goal tries.

The Quakers, in the initial stanza, effectively repulsed the offense of the Bulldogs and chalked up nine markers to take a 9-0 advantage after the first six minutes.

IN THIS PERIOD the Red and Black moved out to a 2-0 lead with five minutes remaining to be played. Then, for the next three and a half minutes, both teams played somewhat off their game.

The final moments of the canto saw the Quakers sharpen their shooting eyes and tally up seven markers before the period ended.

To start the second frame, Salem's Ed Yates connected on a two-pointer to send the locals into an 11-0 margin. With five and a half minutes of playing time left in the quarter, Bill Robinson sank two free throws to register the first points for the Bulldogs and cut the Salem lead to 11-2.

For the remainder of the stanza, both teams battled on fairly even terms, with the Quakers outscoring the Bulldogs 14-10 and grabbing a 23-10 half time margin.

In the third frame, each squad netted eight points, and the Quakers maintained their 13-point margin 31-18 with six minutes of playing time left in the ball game.

IN FINAL STANZA Coach Pridon substituted freely, and 17 men saw action. East Palestine used only six men in the tilt.

The Bulldogs chalked up 15 markers to 12 for the Quakers in the last frame but the advantage the Red and Black had built up was not affected.

Sparkling the Quakers was Herman with 14 tallies. He was followed by Danny Krichbaum with 10 points.

East Palestine's big gun was Woods with 10, and right behind him were Lindsay and Robinson with eight apiece.

In the shooting department, the Red and Black connected on 19 of 43 field goal attempts for a percentage of 44 and at the charity line they drilled in five of 17 for a low per cent of 29.

East Palestine attempted 47 fielders and hit on 14 for a low 29 per cent, while at the free throw line they sank five of 14 for 35 per cent.

Salem's next game will be with East Liverpool Saturday at 7 in the Quaker's gym.

North Carolina Remains No. 1

Iowa State Drops From 3rd To 8th

By The Associated Press
A week of idleness for both teams brought no change in the race between North Carolina and Kansas for top ranking in college basketball, but a single game was costly to Iowa State's hopes.

The eighth weekly Associated Press ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters again found North Carolina's Tar Heels far out ahead of Kansas, which has held the lead up to last week. Unbeaten Carolina went to the front after Kansas dropped its first game of the season to Iowa State.

Iowa State's 69-66 loss to Missouri sent it tumbling from third place to eighth. Louisville's Cardinals, who edged out Dayton 57-56 in their only game of the week, moved up to third.

North Carolina got 62 of a possible 86 first-place votes and a total of 824 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc. Kansas drew 8 firsts and 715 points.

Kentucky, a 91-3 winner over Vanderbilt, moved up to fourth, and Illinois, which whipped Notre Dame 99-81, went up from ninth to seventh. Seattle slid back one notch to ninth.

Southern Methodist stayed in sixth. UCLA 80ok over fifth place by a margin of three points over the Mustangs.

Bradley barely held its 10th position by a two-point margin over Ohio State.

CARS ARE MY LINE by Al Parker

THE ENGINE OF THE FUTURE
Within ten years, the family car may lose its radiator and its gear box. Its hungry appetite for expensive gasoline and the need for frequent oil changes.

The gas turbine engine, a simple and efficient mechanism that works like a windmill, is pretty certain to become the new engine for automobiles — although the most optimistic estimates put it still a decade away.

The gas turbine engine does away with the six or eight cylinders of today's automobile in which rapidly burning gasoline slaps the pistons up and down.

In a single metal sleeve about the same size as today's cylinders a roaring flame sends a rush of hot, expanding gases against a metal pinwheel. The pinwheel revolves like crazy, 50,000 times a minute, and that's your motive power.

Acceleration is smooth and fast, lubrication is simpler because the turbine has one-fifth the number of moving parts and oil is never exposed to contamination. It can burn the cheapest gasoline, or even kerosene if need be.

There are a lot of production problems to iron out yet because the turbine is still an expensive, hand-crafted and delicate instrument. But exciting news is ahead in the automobile business.

It's always an exciting day, too, when a customer we've served for years brings in his car (that we sold him new) to trade on this year's model. These cars are our pride and joy, the ones we've serviced and maintained since they were babies. They are cars we can be especially proud of on the used car lot and can keep in top shape for many years to come because our mechanics know them like a childhood sweetheart.

Included in our front row used car lineup is this immaculate 1954 Cadillac "62" Four Door. Previously owned by a local business man. It is equipped with all power equipment including power windows and has been driven only 21,000 miles. Just $2,895.

Next week we'll tell you about a few of the nifty ideas the auto engineers are planning for ten years from now.

Columbiana, Vicinity Dimes Canvass Set For Thursday

Drive So Far Nets $1,000 Of The $3,000 Fund Goal

COLUMBIANA — With receipts of only $1,041 toward the $3,000 quota in the March of Dimes drive for Columbiana and vicinity embracing rural routes 1 and 2, a house-to-house canvass is scheduled for Thursday evening to conclude the month-long drive.

John Heintzelman, chairman of the drive for the Rotary Club, which sponsors the march locally every year, reports only 110 responses to 1,700 letters of solicitation sent through the mail.

Heintzelman urges that contributions be mailed in and says he would appreciate hearing from persons who have become residents since the 1955 directory was issued, from which the mailing list was taken. The Welcome Wagon Club will conduct the canvass on Thursday evening.

Towasi Circle of the Presbyterian Church will observe its 32nd anniversary with a dinner at the church at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 6.

Members are to call Mrs. Norma Gabe, 2-2929, before next Saturday for reservations. The dinner committee is Mrs. Alice O'Neil, Mrs. Elizabeth Ramsey, Mrs. Helen Smith, Mrs. Mabel Lewton, Mrs. Hilda Bender, Mrs. Hilda Evans, Mrs. Esther Heck and Mrs. Gabe. The Green Thumb Garden Club will have its January meeting at Young's Restaurant, E. Pearl Ave. Ext., at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Four Columbiana ministers are in attendance at the Ohio pastore convention in Columbus this week through Thursday, J. Lloyd Nedrow of Zion Hill Church of the Brethren, H. J. Scheidmantle of the Presbyterian Church, Donald J. Voelm of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church and W. S. Longworth of the Methodist Church.

Columbiana Clippers will play two games at home this week, Minerva tonight and East Palestine, Friday night.

COLUMBIANA REPUBLICANS expect to announce soon a slate of candidates for village offices.

J. K. Harding, former member of council, who is serving his first term as village treasurer, is out for renomination.

Although not a hard and fast rule, it has been the usual custom for a number of years for the Republicans to have no candidate for village clerk and the Democrats no candidate for village treasurer.

No contests have developed for any office, and it is probable that no May primary election will be needed in Columbiana.

Mrs. Vera Frayzier, teacher in Grade 4 in the High School building, state chairman of career advancement for Ohio Business & Professional Women's Clubs, is getting started petitions to the legislature for equal pay with men for equal work.

RECEIVE SAFETY PAMPHLETS — Children in Salem schools are receiving safety pamphlets being distributed locally by the United Commercial Travelers and the Salem police force.

Dropsy Or Edema

B.P.W. members from over the state in attendance at a board meeting and luncheon in the Neil House, Columbus, Saturday.

Gov. C. William O'Neil and the chairmen of Ohio Republican and Democratic women were speakers. After the luncheon, some 700 of those in attendance toured the capital building and witnessed a demonstration of the roll-counting device which does in 10 seconds what used to take 10 minutes.

THE KYSER CONSTRUCTION Co. of Canfield has work well under way on its contract to replace with a large plaza market building the three store buildings destroyed in a half-million-dollar fire a year ago last night and aims with favoring weather to complete replacement with the new brick building in about three months.

July 1 was the conservative completion date figured by the promoters. Six places of business were destroyed by the fire.

The new buff brick building will face from the rear the fireswept site fronting 120 feet on the west side of S. Main St. in the business quarter, which will be used as a free parking lot for plaza market customers.

With a width of 120 feet, the rear of the new building will abut on the east side of S. Vine St., and its south wall will extend 131 feet along east-west Spring alley. The south 62 feet of the width will be occupied by the A. & P. market, and of the remaining 38 feet of width, with entrances set back 10 feet from the front line of the A. & P. market, a Ben Franklin five and 10 will occupy the north 40-foot width 125 feet long. No lease has been closed for the middle 18½ feet 125 feet long.

In anticipation of the possible need of an addition, the north wall will not have a permanent finish at present.

OFFER LIBRARY TO U. S. — Trustees of the Harry S. Truman Library in Independence, Mo., have voted to offer the 1½-million-dollar building, due to be completed in May, to the federal government.

"Is water in the legs a form of dropsy?" asks Mrs. B. C. This is scanty information to go on, but I presume the writer means that the legs are swollen by the accumulation of fluid in their tissues.

It is correct to call this dropsy, or edema as it is known medically. Ordinarily the excess fluids of the body are removed through the sweat, through the lungs and through the urine.

Their accumulation in the legs may be the result of local causes, such as poor circulation. In fact, even a normal person who is on his feet a great deal during hot weather may develop excess fluid in the lower extremities.

The most frequent and common reason for dropsy or edema is failure of the heart or the kidneys to perform their normal functions.

When the cause of the difficulty is from the heart it is the result of failure to pump the blood fast enough through the kidneys so that these organs will filter out and eliminate the fluids which should be discarded. The fluid accumulates in the body and generally goes to those parts which have the poorest circulation, such as the feet and legs.

In heart failure, however, fluid can accumulate in other locations as well, such as the abdominal cavity.

This kind of edema is treated by trying to improve the action of the heart and circulation, raising the legs so that the circulation will not have to work so hard against gravity, and by other medical or surgical measures.

The other main kind of dropsy comes from disease or damage to the kidneys themselves. Here something has gone wrong with the filtering action of these organs so that they simply do not eliminate all the fluids they should. It does not work just to try to flush them out with water since this will usually result in more waterlogging of the tissues than before.

The treatment of dropsy of kidney origin is highly complicated and may involve restriction of salt, special diet and other measures. One relatively new development in treatment has been the use of the artificial kidney. Several complicated devices are in use for this purpose and for selected persons they proving of great value.

Dropsy or edema is not a single disease but rather the reflection of some underlying disorder which is likely to be serious. Anyone who develops dropsy should place himself under good medical care and obey carefully whatever directions are given. Failure to do this may result in tragedy.

Army To Build Giant Solar Furnace

WASHINGTON — The Army announced today it will build a giant solar furnace capable of concentrating the sun's rays to produce temperatures as hot as those of an atomic explosion.

The furnace will be erected at the quartermaster research and engineering center at Natick, Mass., and will be completed this summer, the announcement said.

The Army explained the furnace will collect the sun's rays with a huge flat mirror about 40 feet long and 36 feet wide. This mirror then will reflect the rays 96 feet to a concentrating apparatus consisting of 180 curved mirrors, each 23½ inches in diameter.

Warning Signs Erected On Canton Hill Curve

LISBON — The Ohio Highway Department Traffic Bureau has completed the installation of warning signs on Rt. 30, west of Lisbon just over the Canton Hill.

After a survey made by Harvey J. Thompson, coordinator of the department's traffic bureau, Joseph B. Lintz, Division 11 traffic supervisor, and a crew of men installed 26-inch "turn" signs along with 24-inch advisory speed signs reading 35 miles per hour for westbound traffic and a 40 by 80 inch night arrow sign.

The home of Mrs. Anna Buhl, located on the dangerous curve, has been a constant target for speeding motorists. The protective stone wall has been damaged several times.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

I cannot confirm the report that a general by the name of Akred Maximilian Gruenther was so highly esteemed by certain industrialists that they offered him $250,000 a year to take a private job or that his friend, a fellow by the name of Dwight D. Eisenhower, urged him to turn it down.

I can confirm the report that Gen. Gruenther is considered by a small circle of the nation's most sophisticated cold war strategists as a one man "secret weapon" which could shake the Communist world and beat it without blood shed.

In this small circle are some of the most influential labor chiefs. They count on him to handle the "guided idea" offensive against the Communist propaganda machine so that this nation will never need count on guided missiles hurtling against the Soviet's war machine.

Labor's top leaders see Gen. Gruenther as the one man in President Eisenhower's intimate circle who has the know-how to reach the peoples of the world and turn them against Russia's rulers.

THE UNION CHIEFS believe that the general is one of the few who realizes that the war front during peacetime runs through factories, mills, mines and shipyards as well as the minds and hearts of the people.

This offensive will be Gen. Gruenther's assignment after he is "demilitarized" by a stint in the Red Cross, the labor people say—regardless of whether he is named Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense or personal, roving trouble-shooter for his friend, Dwight Eisenhower.

So the labor people asked the general to fly down to Miami Beach and brief their AFL-CIO high command session on what they can do in this bulletless war of two worlds. I asked Gen. Gruenther what he would say, in effect, to the labor people. The general put it this way:

"Well, you don't find it difficult to get the people to support an administration bid for money for guided missiles but you get reservations when you seek support for the projection of ideas. The AFL-CIO can be of great help in solidifying public opinion in this country and abroad."

AFTER HIS YEARS in Europe as chief of NATO's forces, the general has discovered that you can't win merely by getting government leaders to decide to fight communism. You have to get to the people, too and American labor can help do that. In the Near East, for example, he said it will eventually be the people themselves who will decide who will win.

"We in America expect full return on our investments and that's good except that you can't expect that in the battle of ideas. We have a psychology which says that for the investment of so many dollars in promotion you must sell so many thousand cakes of soap. That's good for soap, but not for ideas," the general added.

"We have, in our government, set up the U.S. Information Service to project our ideas, for example. We expect full return for our dollars. But the Russians pour billions into propaganda and they're happy if they get a 20 per cent return.

"So I want to congratulate the labor people on their fight against the Communist stand and stress the spiritual side in creating a climate of opinion for support of a war of ideas. Success depends on the widespread participation of the people. It is all very well to say we are against communism."

"BUT WHAT really determines the success in this struggle is the degree of participation on the part of the individual in every country. It is something I feel strongly about and for which I will crusade. "I consider that we are entering the phase of the cold war where ideas are going to be more powerful than before. We have to first create a knowhow in this fight, here in the U.S. Those fellows on the other side of the iron curtain get their ideas and people's participation across by the gun-in-the-back method. It has its disadvantage but it makes tough competition for us."

So it is fascinating to note that the White House, through Gen. Gruenther, is calling on U.S. labor to work with it in the new phase of the war between the free and slave worlds.

Confiscate Gambling Devices At Elks Club

The Ohio State Board of Liquor Control is expected to give a hearing soon to the Salem Elks Club on a charge of displaying gambling devices on the premises.

Agents from the Canton enforcement office Saturday night at 8 confiscated punch boards and "tip" tickets at the club during a routine check of D-4 permit holders.

The board probably will set a date for the hearing after it receives the report from the Canton office.

Judge Sits Down, Legs Appear In Court Ceiling

PHILADELPHIA — A quarter Sessions Judge Charles L. Guerin took his seat on the bench in his sixth floor courtroom in city hall when crash — a man's legs burst through the ornate ceiling. William Gregory, 65, dangled momentarily until fellow workers pulled him back. He was unhurt. He had stepped on a defective board on the seventh floor.

I WISH . . .

Ever look at a picture and say: "I wish I had been there." Or, "I wish I had seen that!"

What makes such a picture? Experts agree that most good pictures have three basic ingredients. First, a subject. Obvious? Sure, but if your viewer has to hunt for it, the picture isn't good. Let's take as our subject a mother and baby on a blanket. That's IT! Trees, rose bushes, garage — they don't belong.

Ingredient number two: A good picture is a UNIT. Nothing is included that shouldn't be; there's nothing missing. In our picture, either mother or child could be the subject. But we chose both as subject, excluded everything else.

Finally, a good picture tells a story. Let's have the child give mother a kiss. That's the story.

So, pick a subject; keep to a single idea; tell a story. Then you'll hear people say: "I wish . . ." when they look at your pictures.
